Dear Participants,

Positive Psychology has revolutionized our understanding of human behaviour by drawing attention to those endeavours that strengthen the innate capacities of individuals. The National Positive Psychology Association (NPPA) in India aims to explore such strengths and human potential and to cater to both the scientific community as well as general public who will benefit from such research.

After the huge success of the First International Conference on Positive Psychology, we are hosting the Second International Conference on Positive Psychology on 19th-20th April, 2024. This two-day virtual conference will give researchers, academicians, students, and practitioners from around the world a great platform to interact and share their ongoing positive psychology related research, and insights from the field, including practical applications.
